Ironwood Australia are able to mill and grade NSW railway sleepers into high quality character filled cladding. Feature uses include building cladding, walkways, bar tops, tables and furniture. They are also a very economic recycled timber choice for your next project.

Internal

Ironwood can mill and supply a large range of recycled, reclaimed and new Australian hardwoods and oregon into various widths and thicknesses of wall cladding. There are many different finishes and colour ranges available. These include a clean DAR (Dressed All Round) finish in creams, reds and browns, which are the most rustic and weathered feature cladding from our heritage collection.

Our range of claddings are highly sought after and used by leading architects, designers, builders and home renovators for commercial and residential fit-outs.

Some of our cladding is made from historic timber. One of our newest products is recycled re-milled oregon cladding or flooring, originally used as scaffolding planks for the painting and maintenance of the Sydney Harbour Bridge by the former RTA in 1946. This high quality timber is available in a range of finishes including hand wire brushed, skip dressed or dressed all round.

External

Ironwood also produce a large range of Class 1 durability hardwoods well suited for external wall cladding or ceiling and eave lining.

Available in a range of widths and traditional profiles or milled to match an existing one. The range of finishes include DAR, rough sawn, wire brushed, skip dressed and original weathered grey wire brushed for a rustic low maintenance finish.
